Shaping Life and Belief in the
JUBILEE OF MERCY

♦ Ordinary Time in Year C ♦
14th – 22nd Sundays
July-August 2016

The Extraordinary Jubilee of Mercy can be a new year for the Sundays and big Feastdays to enrich our lives. The Lectionary for Mass Year C presents us with the Gospel of Luke and the good news of mercy. Week by week and season by season, the Church will unfold – by means of readings, prayers, and liturgical music – the great mystery of Christ. Use these seasonal booklets as preparation for preaching and catechesis, as inspiration for prayer and reflection, as help for thinking of and doing mercy works.

Concerning the Liturgical Time

♦ Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy

102. …Within the cycle of a year, moreover, the Church unfolds the whole mystery of Christ … Recalling thus the mysteries of redemption, the Church opens to the faithful the riches of the Lord’s powers and merits, so that these are in some way made present in every age in order that the faithful may lay hold on them and be filled with grace.

♦ Universal Norms for the Liturgical Year and the General Roman Calendar

II. The Cycle of the Year

17. Over the course of the year the Church celebrates the whole mystery of Christ, from the Incarnation to Pentecost Day and the days of waiting for the Advent of the Lord.

VI. Ordinary Time

43. Besides the times of the year that have their own distinctive character, there remain in the yearly cycle thirty-three or thirty-four weeks in which no particular aspect of the mystery of Christ is celebrated, but rather, the mystery of Christ itself is honored in its fullness, especially on Sundays. This period is known as Ordinary Time.

♦ Lectionary for Mass, Introduction

5. Ordinary Time

a) The Arrangement and Choice of Texts

103. Ordinary Time begins on the Monday after the Sunday following 6 January [Baptism of the Lord]; it lasts until the Tuesday before Lent inclusive. It begins again on the Monday after Pentecost Sunday and finishes before evening prayer I of the First Sunday of Advent.

The Order of Readings provides readings for thirty-four Sundays and the weeks following them….

b) The Sunday Readings

105. On the Second Sunday of Ordinary Time the Gospel continues to center on the manifestation of the Lord which is celebrated on the Solemnity of the Epiphany….

Beginning on the Third Sunday, there is a semicontinuous reading of the Synoptic Gospels. This reading is arranged in such a way that as the Lord’s life and preaching unfold the doctrine proper to each of these Gospels is presented.

This distribution also provides a certain coordination between the meaning of each Gospel and the progress of the liturgical year. Thus after Epiphany the readings are on the beginning of the Lord’s preaching and they fit in well with Christ’s baptism and the first events in which he manifests himself. The liturgical year leads quite naturally to a conclusion in the eschatological theme proper to the last Sundays, since the chapters of the Synoptics that precede the account of the Passion treat this eschatological theme rather extensively…

c) The Old Testament Readings

106. These readings have been chosen to correspond to the Gospel passages in order to avoid an excessive diversity between the readings of different Masses and above all to bring out the unity between the Old and the New Testaments….

To the degree possible, the readings were chosen in such a way that they would be short and easy to grasp….

b) The Readings from the Apostles

107. There is a semicontinuous reading of the Letters of Paul and James (the Letters of Peter and John being read during the Easter and Christmas seasons).

Because it is quite long and deals with such diverse issues, the First Letter to the Corinthians has been spread over the three years of the cycle at the beginning of Ordinary Time. It also was thought best to divide the Letter to the Hebrews into two parts; the first part is read in Year B and the second in Year C.

Only readings that are short and readily grasped by the people have been chosen.

CRS HOMILY RESOURCES FOR SELECT SUNDAYS AND FEASTS IN THE EXTRAORDINARY JUBILEE OF MERCY

by Fr. Ron Chochol

INTRODUCTION
The following resources draw on images and insights found in Misericordiae Vultus, the Bull of Indiction of Pope Francis for the Jubilee Year of Mercy, and on the mission and work of Catholic Relief Services. They are designed to assist the preacher in relating the Scriptures for the days selected to our individual and community practices of mercy during the Jubilee Year. Each reflection has a brief summary of the Gospel for that day (from Year C), an image of mercy, an illustration from the mission and work of CRS, and examples of one or more practices from the traditional list of corporal and spiritual works of mercy.

NOTE: Quotes from the Bull of Indiction are referenced by its initials—MV—and section number and paragraph; e.g., MV #24–2. For further information about the Jubilee Year, consult Jubilee of Mercy, the website sponsored by the Pontifical Council for the Promotion of the New Evangelization. Preachers may also want to draw a congregation’s attention to the numerous references to God’s mercy found in the Eucharistic Prayers, especially the four for Various Needs and Occasions.

The Fifteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

The Gospel today starts with a problem and an answer. It ends by turning our world upside down. The story of the Good Samaritan, which Jesus uses to answer the question of the man trained in the Mosaic law as to who is his neighbor, has become one of the most well-known in religious literature. It shows us the face of mercy on the last person the Jewish victim would have expected it from. The story also shows us that we are entering the mystery of mercy when we realize that “neighbor” is not a passive object, a noun, but rather a dynamic source for others; that is, a verb. When we are grasped by that conversion, we are caught up in the great mystery of mercy. And that is what CRS does. On our behalf, it becomes a neighbor to others wherever, whenever they are in need. CRS not only helps others, but also enables them to become life-giving neighbors to others in their own communities. Thus we can begin to see the corporal and spiritual works of mercy not as burdens, but as spiritual blessings.

JULY 24, 2016
The Seventeenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

The Gospel for this Sunday offers many gifts of mercy for those who open their hearts to the God and Father of the Lord Jesus, who is the source of mercy. Jesus shows us how our lives will be touched by divine mercy when we practice mercy toward others. CRS is present to and works with millions of people around the world. We are always ready to respond immediately and generously to those overwhelmed by natural disasters or the effects of human violence. Sometimes we can find ourselves challenged to move out of our comfort zone to help others. We can see this as a burden, or as an opportunity to offer gifts of mercy to others. The corporal and spiritual works of mercy are genuine opportunities given to us by God.

AUGUST 7, 2016

The Nineteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

The Gospel reading for today, whether the long or short form, offers us images of how to be truly human in God’s eyes. But the first paragraph, in the long form, is particularly striking. It addresses those of us who are fearful of threats, violence or even people who are different from us. Jesus reassures us that we have no need to fear anything, since our Father has given us everything we need to live a deeply human life. This mercy of God is a never-failing treasure. And then Jesus tells us how to live a fully human life: “For where your treasure is, there also will your heart be.” If we have a heart of mercy as the Father does, our lives will be a treasure for others, and ourselves. If we take the time to go to the CRS website, we will find our treasure—the people around the world whom we have the opportunity to serve. We will be inspired by their stories of faith, hope, love and endurance. Although we will be not be able to see them up close and personal, we can see others who are like them in our own towns and cities. Engaging in the corporal and spiritual works of mercy locally will enable us to open our hearts of mercy to our global neighbors.

Preachers may also want to draw a congregation’s attention to the numerous references to God’s mercy found in the Eucharistic Prayers, especially the four for Various Needs and Occasions.

AUGUST 21, 2016
The Twenty-first Sunday in Ordinary Time
Whether we consider the “narrow door” to salvation or the door that the master of the house locks to keep out evildoers, we are given an image of the doors of mercy. This image reminds us of how the Jubilee Year of Mercy began last December when Pope Francis opened the doors of mercy at the major basilicas in Rome. We can enter through these doors wherever we are. But more important, we can open doors of mercy to help others around the world through CRS. We support educational programs for AIDS orphans that open doors to a better future. And we encourage people around the world to start Savings and Internal Lending Communities, which offer a safe place to save small sums of money, and a fair and reliable place to get loans so families and communities can become self-sufficient. At home we can open doors of mercy by working with ex-offenders who are trying to start a new life. And we can encourage others to open doors for them through work, housing and dignity.

Fourteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time – 03 July 2016
Be sensuous. Be bold. Be sent. Two great stories are heard today. Isaiah invites us to look around and notice how a mother comforts her child. God says to Israel: “That’s exactly how I comfort you.” And God says it to us today! So let us be bold and be like God. Give comfort. Luke invites us to go ahead of the Lord, just like the 72 sent out to the nations. Say “Peace.” Then take care of the sick. Can we be bold just like them?

- Who needs comfort today? What will I do?
- Who is sick? What peace and comfort will I bring?
- How will I be bold?

Fifteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time – 10 July 2016
Mercy has a face. Some hospitals in our region have a corps of volunteers called Good Samaritans. They do all manner of kindness so that the sick can get the care, the treatment they need. Mercy has the face of real live people, those who (1) love God, (2) love self, and (3) love the other by being the neighbor. We hear Moses, in the fifth book (Deuteronomy) for God’s Chosen People, say to them – and now to us today: this command to love like God is not too mysterious or remote.

- Who needs my acts of love today – perhaps even beyond my close circle of family and friends?
- Who needs a ride to church, to doctor, to grocery that I can give?
- How can I manifest the mystery of mercy by being a face of mercy?

Sixteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time – 17 July 2016
I am amazed by this story! Abraham, sitting at this doorway under a tree, sees three strangers approach. He runs to greet them. He sees to the bathing of their tired dusty feet. He sits them down under his tree. He feeds them. They engage in conversation. The story is a little ambiguous, but Abraham comes to know them as someone(s) divine. He responds with lavish hospitality. Perhaps my mercy work this week is wrestling with these discipleship questions:

- How will I greet and treat strangers?
- How can I, who can I literally bathe or “bathe” with kindness?
- Who will I feed dinner?

Seventeenth Sunday in Ordinary Time – 24 July 2016
Ask. Seek. Knock. Do you know someone who is just so relentless? He tirelessly makes his point! She keeps at it and does not back down. They ask … and ask again … and yet again! Abraham, the merciful one, is just like that – reread of his persistence in Genesis 18:20-32. The friend is just like that, too, in Luke 11:1-13. And Jesus tells all who hear, and that is us today as well, be just like that in addressing God. Ask. Seek. Knock. Few words, fewer actions, great persistence.

- How will my prayer be persistent this week?
- For whom and for what will I pray?
- How can I respond like God and open my door (and my heart), give food to the hungry, bargain for the innocent?

Eighteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time – 31 July 2016
Don’t be hard hearted. We have all heard stories of relatives who fight over an estate or a supposed inheritance. Luke recounts the Jesus parable of packing away so many possessions in order to “rest, eat, drink, be merry!” It is Jesus who said to the crowd, and says to us today: “One’s life does not consist in possessions.” On hearing Christ, the logical philosopher lays outs this syllogism: (1) Guard against all greed; (2) because life does not consist of possessions; (3) therefore, give away somethings, some time, some effort, some of self.

- What things can I give away?
- What time and effort can I expend to another?
- How will I reuse, use up, recycle?

Nineteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time – 07 August 2016
Hard but clear words today. Jesus tells his beloved “little flock” – that includes us – to sell belongings and give alms. Do not be afraid. Sell. Give. Yet, we are sometimes afraid to let go, to give away. I really like this, we say. I might need it later, we say. Since we are numbered among his disciples, what Jesus said to Peter and to the rest of the Followers, he says to us:

- Do not fear!
- Give alms!
- Be ready to act for the benefit of others; be ready to do what is good!
- So, this week, I will ________________________!

Twentieth Sunday in Ordinary Time – 14 August 2016
We are not alone. In this great mercy work, we are not alone. The Letter to the Hebrews (12:1-4) declares we can run the race, we can live the Christian life, we can keep our eyes fixed on Jesus because we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses. We are not alone. We who eat and drink Christ’s Blood and Body are “conformed to his image on earth” in order to not only look like him but also be like him.
- Who is lonely, cut off, alone, and needs my visit?
- Who can I surround with my witness and comfort?

Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary – Monday, 15 August 2016
Let us say with Mary: My soul proclaims the greatness of the Lord; my spirit rejoices in God my Savior for he has looked with favor on his lowly servant.

Twenty-First Sunday in Ordinary Time – 21 August 2016
Here comes everybody. The entry to the kingdom of God, to heaven is described as passage through a narrow gate. But the path to it is pretty wide. It has to be, because this roadway has room for the nations of every language, sisters and brothers from everywhere. This is our pilgrimage – helping one another on the path to the kingdom, to our final home, to God.
- Who will be my companions this week?
- Who needs my help down this common road to heaven?

Twenty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time – 28 August 2016
Who to invite? We have all had the task of making the guest list for a dinner, a cookout, a wedding, the Christmas cards. Who is on it? Who is crossed off? Who must we invite? Who can’t be seated next to whom? You know it all! Jesus, however, upsets our list making tasks today. He tells his host – and thus us – invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind. In short, invite everyone, especially those who probably cannot invite you back.
- Who do I need to invite over for coffee, for lunch?
- Who can I include in some outing, project, or conversation?
